Consultant and Implementation support for financial Services Professionals

Andrew Dobson is a financial services professional with considerable experience working for both UK and Isle of Man pension and offshore bond providers. He also was Co founder of QB Partners, a respected Isle of Man technical support service to the financial services industry in the UK and internationally.

Andrew is a retirement, trust and estate planning expert who can assist on a business to business basis, with technical expertise in helping an adviser with suitable clients to understand appropriate solutions to meet their clients financial planning needs. Support can be provided on a consultative basis and implementation support can also be provided.

Where appropriate, Andrew will introduce qualified tax and legal professionals if required to ensure that financial planning in complex situations is undertaken with the correct and suitably qualified expertise.

New Walk Consulting Ltd does not provide advice and will charge fees for consultation, implementation support and introductions where required.

If you are a financial services provider, tax professional, or lawyer, then we would welcome a conversation to explore the potential of working with you to assist you with your clients needs.
